THE BNAI BERITH ASSOCIATION.

Permanent Organisation-Debate on Prayer Suggestions and Amendments.

CHICAGO, Jan. 26, 1874. Since Thursday last the new Sherman House has een basy with the assembling of delegates from Il parts of the country to the Convention of the pendent Order of Bnai Berita. Notices have en posted in the halls and offices to the effect that the reception room of the independent Order of Bnai Berith is located in such and such a par-lor, and that the delegations of No. 1, No. 2, &c., meet in such and such rooms. The delegates ared in a straggling way until Saturday morning. hen New York sent in a batch of fifty-six, and on the reception rooms became black with toke and noisy with the efforts of buttonholers and caucusers; for be it understood that in the narrow circle of the delegates there been as much discussion about candidates platforms as in any ordinary political invention. The Gentile guests at the Sherman der at the pertinacity of the gentlemen who nenade the halls and form busy groups in the parlor, and verily believe that the fate of the Jews of the country is to be decided by the Convention. A MOVEMENT OF UNUSUAL IMPORTANCE

Yesterday, precisely at noon, the delegates, 180 number, marched to the Music Hall, on Clark eet, and the Convention was opened by Julius Men, of New York, President of the Executive ittee, who welcomed the delegates to this cond quinquennial assemblage and asked them to drop for the time all sectional differences and ions and harmonize for the general welfare. M. Rillinger, of New York, then read the roll of del gates. Judge Joseph Koch, of New York, was dected temporary chairman, and M. Ellinger secretary. A committee of fliteen was appointed to elected temporary chairman, and M. Elinger sectedary. A committee of filteen was appointed to examine the credenfals of delegates and report at the alternoon session, whereapon the meeting adjourned to two o'clock.

On reassembling the list of accredited delegates was read. The Convention then by the unanimous election of the following officers:—President, Hon. Simon Wolf, of Washington. Vice Presidents—Morris Goodhart, of New York; M. J. Mack. of Cincinnati; William Lowenstein, of Richmond; W. Saalburg, of San Francisco; A. Goodman of Baltimore; S. Rosenfela, of St. Pani, and Adolph Lock, of Memphis. Secretaries—Base & Isaacs, of New York; Lewis Abraham, of Washington; Aifred T. Jones, of Philadelphia.

A Committee on Rules was appointed, and, pending their report, a resolution was adopted making the rules of 1888 the temporary basis for the proceedings, excenting, however, one which declared that the Convention should be opened and closed daily by the ordinary lodge form of prayer. It was a rabbi—Dr. Wise, of Cincinnati—who moved the clause striking out this prayer.

An interesting ceremonial now took place which was marked with much taste and feeling. President Wolf stated that he had prepared a medal to be presented at this Convention to one of the delegates who behaved so nobly at Memphis during the recent epidemic. Mr. Bien moved to adopt the President's action as the sense of this Convention, and to present the medal at once. This was carried, and a committee was despatched to escort to the platform Mr. A. E. Frankland, the "hero of Memphis," as he is called. Mr. Frankland was enthusiastically cheered as he ascended the scage. The President, in an eloquent address, presented to him a handsome gold medal suitably inscribed, and Mr. Frankland responded with such genuine emotion that the delegates were deeply moved by his tonching address.

Dr. Wise proposed a resolution of condolence for the relatives of brethren who had died in Memphis his touching address.

Dr. Wise proposed a resolution of condolence for the relatives of brethren who had died in Memphis and Shreveport during the epidemic, which was was then read, giving in a general way a flattering account of the prospects of the Order, being a document briefer than usual and containing little that is of general interest. It showed that there were 205 lodges and not less than 18,000 members.

A proposition to prepare resolutions of thanks and present them to Mr. Bien and the Executive Committee for the arduous character of their labors during the past five years and in acknowledgment of the satisfactory way in which they had performed their duties, elicited considerable denate, at times of an acrimonious character. The opposition came mainly from Cincinnati delegates, who objected to certain statements contained in the printed report of the Executive Committee, and especially to a letter written by Rabbi Pelsenthal, of Cincago, who was supposed to have indulged in certain unrabbinical reflections on the members of the Order. The resolution of thanks was, however, carried by a large majority. Pending the consideration of the report of the Committee on Rules the Convention adjourned.

On reassembling the several rules were read and adopted, with sundry amendments.

An additional results and additional proposition as the proposition as presented by Morris Goodhart, elicited a protracted debate, but was adopted by the close vote of 68 yeas to 56 nays. This was merely the proposition as adopted in 1868 to open and close the meetings with prayer, such as is used in all the lodges of the Order. One brother from New Orleans thought that the Convention needed no prayer; that they did their praying before and after the Convention in the privacy of their chambers; that they did not travel so many miles for the mere purpose of listening to prayers. A rabbi from St. Louis suggested that the Jews are not a praying but a working mation. However, after much wranging and parliamentary skirmisning, the rule passed as stated. Quite an avaianche of resolutions, amendments, petitions, addresses and rules poured in, and were duly referred to the various committees. Of the more important subjects to be discussed were propositions of Dr. Wise to encourage the rabbinical seminary as contemplated by the Cincinnati Union of Hebrew Congregations and to establish a home for the helpless; a suggestion of District No. 7 to create a degree in the Order for the women in Israel, several endowment projects, the abolition of secrecy, a simpler ritual, &c. There are also several resolutions strongly condemning the course of Rabbi Feisenthal in writing his letter upon the condition of the Order, the subsequent discussion of when will undoubtedly create an unpleasant feeling. The Convention adjourned at two o'dock, to reassemble Tuesday, at ten, when the several committees will report.

The Sessions of Tuesday and Wednesday. CHICAGO, Jan. 28, 1874.

The debate in the convention of the Bnai Berith on the minority report continued until midnight last night, various amendments and substitutes being suggested, but none acted on. Finally the ress, after which the previous question was moved, and, in accordance with the rules, the debate was closed by Mr. Isidor Bush, chairman of the Committee on Endowment, and the minority report was then put to a vote and lost. The maority report being voted was adopted. A motion to reconsider was then adopted, and the report was taid on the table. An invitation was received from the Board of Trade asking the members to visit the Board in a body. The invitation was accepted, and the members proceeded to the hall, where they were welcomed by President Bowe, who introduced President Wolf, who, in a lew pleasant words, expressed the gratification of himself and his brethren at meeting the members of the Board, and their admiration of the new Change.

of the Board, and their admiration of the new Chicago.

Mr. A. F. Frankland, the "Hero of Memphis," being loudly called for, came forward, and was frested with great appliance. He made a brief speech, in which he aimed in grateful terms to the generosity shown their organization by the Board of Trade and the citizens of Chicago.

Mr. Johns Bien, President of the Executive Committee, being called upon asso made a brief speech, after which the members of the Convention returned to their hall.

The seport of the Committee on Territories was then submitted and read.

This afternoon the discussion of the report of the Committee on Territories occupied until four occock, when a vote was taken, and the najority report adopted. It makes several changes, including the removal of New Jersey from the First to the Third district, the Southern States from the Third to the Fifth, and Michigan from the Second to the Seventh district.

Each debate occurred on the question of establishing an organ, and the speeches were spirited and caustic. The report was almost unanimously adopted, with an amendment that the publication should not be at any pecuniary risk to the Order.

At seven o'clock the Convention adjourned, to prepare for a grand banquet given at the Sherman House.

THE BANQUET

was an elegant affair. Over 400 guests were present, Toasts were offered as follows:—"The order of Bhai Berith, "responded to by Mr., Julius Bien; "The Second Constitutional Convention," responded to very happily by Mr. Simon Wolf, President of the Convention; "The President of the United States," by Mr. W. Lowenstein; "Our Guests," by Mr. Henry Greenbaum; "The First Constitutional Convention," by Mr. Adolph Moses; "Our District Grand Lodges," by Mr. Isidor Bush; "Our Courts of Appeal," by Mr. M. Eillinger; "Woman," by Mr. M. Goodhart.

The occasion was enlivened by music and pleasant speeches from a number of the delegates, and the party did not disperse till a late hour.

THE PHILADELPHIA MAYORALTY.

A Short, Sharp Session in the Nominating Convention - McClure Put Forward and Practically Endorsed as an Independent Candidate. At eleven o'clock this morning the Convention for the nomination of a suitable candidate for Mayor met, not in the Assembly buildings as announced (for their rooms were already occupied all the other feathered species usually compre-hended in a first class poultry show), but in a little hall a quarter of a mile from the advertised locality, where the confusion was no less remarkable above. Outside the building the crowd was im-mense, and despite the pouring rain hundreds stood patiently waiting below for the decision of that boisterous and tempestuous crowd wrangling and wildly gesticulating above. The Chairman of the Convention was Mr. Thomas H. Gill, and during the first lew minutes a dreary routine was gone through with, of very little interest or import.

After the minutes were read, &c., the following produced:

As far as the Reform Club is concerned, Mr. Tatem, its last candidate, refused, in an interview this afternoon, to state whether he would run or not. OBITUARY.

Judge James Thompson, of the Pennsylvania Bar.

Ex-Chief Justice James Thompson, of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, left dead in the Supreme Court room, Philadelphia, while engaged in the discharge of his professional duty as a practising lawyer, yesterday morning. He was arguing before the Supreme Court, sitting in banco, in a case of tax titles, and had just closed his speech. He had spoken but about five minutes. The opposing lawyer had said that Judge Elwell was a better judge on tax titles than he. Here he made a re-judge on tax titles than he. Here he made a remark that it was amusing that the opposite counsel should remark this, and then went on to refer to the fact that that decision was not made by himself. Mr. Thompson was going on with his argument and was leaning over the table, when he dropped down and in five minutes ceased to live. The Court immediately adjourned.

James Thompson was born in Middlesex, Berks county, Pa., October 1, 1806. He received a good education, and after leaving school entered a printing office for the purpose of learning type setting. He commenced the study of law and in 1828 was admitted to the Bar. His talent and energy speedily gained him a good practice, and, turning his attention to politics, he was three times elected to the State Legislature—in 1822, 1833 and 1834. During his last term he was speaker of the House and made a very excellent impression as a presiding officer by his knowledge of Parliamentary rules and his firmness and impartiality. In 1836 he was a Presidential elector, and for six years he sat in the District Court as presiding Judge. In 1846 he was a resident of Congress and served until 1851. He was elected Judge of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania for fitteen years in 1857, and was the democratic candidate for re-election in Oc-tober, 1872, but was defeated. During the latter part of his term he was Chief Justice.

Zachariah Tucker. Zachariah Tucker, a prominent citizen of Provi-dence, R. L., who has been connected with the State and city governments, died in Providence during the night of the 27th inst. He had retired to his room in his usual health.

Death of a Centenarian.

Mrs. Abigail Broadbent died in Wethersfield conn., on the night of the 27th inst., at the age of 100 years and 8 months. Her memory of early events remained intact until just before her death, and there is no doubt concerning her age.

THE PENNSYLVANIA MINERS.

Amicable Settlement of Difficulties with the Operators and Arrangements to Return to Work.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Jan. 28, 1874. The question of a strike among the miners in the Wyoming region has been definitely settled to-day by the delegate Convention. At haif-past one o'clock the delegates representing the Wilkesbarre, Sugar Notch, Ashley, Newport and Plymouth districts, and acting for over 1,600 miners, assembled in Weiss Hail, and after one deliberation deter-mined to abandon the demand for a ten per cent advance and return to work on the wages and basis of last year. W. H. Carroll, of the Wilkesbarre district, was elected President and James O'Hal-

The delegations being called upon to make statements as to the condition of work in the various districts, Mr. Keegan, of the Wilkesbarre district, represented that the men were idle, with the exeption of about one-third of their number, en gaged in fighting the fire now raging in Kidder Slope. No proposition to go to work had been made by the Wikesbarre Coal and Iron Company. At Sugar Notch the same condition of affairs prevailed. The Newport delegation reported that a proposition had been made to resume work at last year's rates, which the men had accepted, but a local difficulty had arisen in regard to the construction of chutes, the company insisting upon certain conditions which virtually brought the men to a reduction of $1 11 upon that class of work. Being a purely local question between the operators and men, the Convention decided that it had no power to interfere. The Plymouth delegation anaounced that the men were idle, but had received a proposition to go to work on last year's rates, and were disposed to accept it if permitted to do so by the other districts. A delegate stated that the men were influenced in their action by the fact that an impression prevailed among them that they were not strong enough for a strike at this time, and that many of them, being dependent upon the company's store for necessaries of life, saw only the alternative of starvation if they rejected the proposition now submitted to them, and thought it to the advantage of their organization if they made the best of the situation. They were determined, however, not to submit to any reduction from the prices and basis of 1873. Mr. Carroll, of the Wilkesbarre district, represented that the men of his district were disposed to adhere to their demand for a ten per cent advance, but they would be governed by the sentiment of the majority of the convention.

To test the leeing of the convention, Mr. Keegan, of the Wilkesbarre district, offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That any district receiving the prices and basis of 1873 for the year 1874 be allowed to resume work. year's rates, which the men had accepted, but a local difficulty had arisen in regard to the con-

The adoption of this resolution abrogated the agreement recently made that no district should sign any agreement to go to work unless the other districts went in on the same conditions, and also deprived the Wilkesbarre men of their claim to the ten per cent advance. It was debated with considerable carnestness by Messrs. Carroll, Keegan, O'Halloran, O'Keefe and others, and finally passed—yeas 6, nays 3—and thus was settled the question relating to anything like a strike for this year.

Gatveston, Jan 21.—U 8 Deputy Marshal M K Canfield served a process on the master of the schr Wapella this morning, at Labadie's Wharf. The schooner has been libelled by King, Kennedy & Co. owners of the steam lighter Matamoras. Fr services rendered when the schooner was aground on the cast end of the island, on towing her into the harbor. It is probable that the matter will be settled without litigation.

Postrash, Jan 28-Schr 8 W Wentworth, from Calais for New York, put into Boothbay. The captain reports that on the Isla James its unash, a seaman, was snocked overboard of attingers and drownod. He leaves a widow and three children in Caisis.
